

海の歴史・全4巻

1.海の歴史 - 近世世界 The Sea in History - The Early Modern World

Edited by Christian Buchet, Professor of Maritime History, Catholic University of Paris, Scientific Director of Océanides and a member of l'Académie de marine. & Gérard Le Bouëdec, Emeritus Professor of the University of South Brittany.

2017年2月出版
22 line illustrations
1072 ページ 23.4x15.6 cm
Hardback,
ISBN 9781783271580
Published by Boydell Press
定価 ¥31,050

How important has the sea been in the development of human history? Very important indeed is the conclusion of this ground-breaking four volume work. The books bring together the world's leading maritime historians, who address the question of what difference the sea has made in relation to around 250 situations ranging from the earliest times to the present. They consider, across the entire world, subjects related to human migration, trade, economic development, warfare, the building of political units including states and empires, the dissemination of ideas, culture and religion, and much more, showing how the sea was crucial to all these aspects of human development.

The Sea in History - The Early Modern World covers the period from around the end of the fifteenth century up to the conclusion of the Napoleonic Wars in 1815. It examines the establishment and growth of 'the Atlantic World', but also considers maritime developments in the Indian Ocean, Southeast and East Asia and Africa, and highlights the continuing importance of the North Sea and the Baltic. A very wide range of maritime subjects is explored including trade, which went through a huge global expansion in this period; fishing; shipping, shipbuilding, navigation and ports; the role of the sea in the dissemination of religious ideas; the nature of life for sailors in different places and periods; and the impact of trade in particularly important commodities, including wine, slaves, sugar and tobacco. One particularly interesting chapter is on the Hanse, the important maritime commercial 'empire' based in north Germany, which extended much more widely than is often realised and whose significance and huge impact have often been overlooked.

33 of the contributions are in English; 42 are in French.

Published with Océanides Founded in March 2012, Océanides is a five-year, international research project which aims to provide scientific evidence of the key role seas and oceans have played in human evolution, culture and history.

Its primary objective is to provide the most global overview of maritime history to date, spanning five millennia and five continents. It aims to give policy makers the necessary tools with which to understand the close connection between humans and the sea, to appreciate the evidence of its crucial role in our future and to improve worldwide maritime policy.

2.海の歴史 - 現代世界 The Sea in History - The Modern World

Edited by N.A.M. Rodger,
Senior Research Fellow at All Souls College, Oxford
CHRISTIAN BUCHET is *Professor of Maritime
History, Catholic University of Paris, Scientific
Director of Océanides and a member of l'Académie
de marine.*

2017年2月出版
6 black and white, 17 line illustrations
848 pages 23.4x15.6 cm
Hardback
ISBN 9781783271603
Published by Boydell Press

定価 ¥31,050

How important has the sea been in the development of human history? Very important indeed is the conclusion of this ground-breaking four volume work. The books bring together the world's leading maritime historians, who address the question of what difference the sea has made in relation to around 250 situations ranging from the earliest times to the present. They consider, across the entire world, subjects related to human migration, trade, economic development, warfare, the building of political units including states and empires, the dissemination of ideas, culture and religion, and much more, showing how the sea was crucial to all these aspects of human development.

The Sea in History - The Modern World covers the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, when the global reach of major powers frequently brought them into conflict with each other, including conflict at sea. The many major wars at sea of the period are discussed, as are the planning and strategic thinking of the major powers in cases both where war followed and where it did not, and in addition the role and thinking of less important powers such as Portugal and Denmark are analysed. The book considers how in this first great age of 'globalisation' seaborne trade helped many countries to prosperity by participation in the global economy, a process halted by the First World War and not resumed until the 1950s. The book also examines maritime resources including fishing and whaling; ships, shipbuilding, ports and navigation; and the logistics of supporting long distance maritime activity. One very interesting chapter on late imperial China shows how China's then failure to take maritime issues seriously was a major factor in the empire's collapse.

58 of the contributions are in English; 6 are in French.

N. A. M. RODGER is a Senior Research Fellow at All Souls College, Oxford CHRISTIAN BUCHET is Professor of Maritime History, Catholic University of Paris, Scientific Director of Océanides and a member of l'Académie de marine.

Published with Océanides Founded in March 2012, Océanides is a five-year, international research project which aims to provide scientific evidence of the key role seas and oceans have played in human evolution, culture and history.

Its primary objective is to provide the most global overview of maritime history to date, spanning five millennia and five continents. It aims to give policy makers the necessary tools with which to understand the close connection between humans and the sea, to appreciate the evidence of its crucial role in our future and to improve worldwide maritime policy.

3.海の歴史 - 中世世界

The Sea in History - The Medieval World

Edited by Michel Balard

Emeritus Professor at the University Paris 1 - Panthéon Sorbonne. CHRISTIAN BUCHET is Professor of Maritime History, Catholic University of Paris, Scientific Director of Océanides and a member of l'Académie de marine.

2017年2月出版

48 black and white, 33 line illustrations

1086 pages 23.4x15.6 cm

Hardback

ISBN 9781783271597

Published by Boydell Press

定価 ¥31,050

How important has the sea been in the development of human history? Very important indeed is the conclusion of this ground-breaking four volume work. The books bring together the world's leading maritime historians, who address the question of what difference the sea has made in relation to around 250 situations ranging from the earliest times to the present. They consider, across the entire world, subjects related to human migration, trade, economic development, warfare, the building of political units including states and empires, the dissemination of ideas, culture and religion, and much more, showing how the sea was crucial to all these aspects of human development.

The Sea in History - The Medieval World covers the period from the end of the Roman Empire in the West up to around the year 1500. It demonstrates that for many peoples and states in this period the sea was central to their existence - the Vikings, the Hanse, Venice, Genoa, the Normans - and it shows also how important the sea was for states which are not normally thought of as maritime powers, such as Byzantium, the Crusader states and the Mongol Empire. The book is global in its coverage, including material on East and Southeast Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean and Africa, with particularly interesting material on China's extensive voyages of exploration in the fifteenth century, the role of the Vikings in the early formation of Russia, and on the building of ships, appropriate to local conditions, in different parts of the world.

40 of the contributions are in English; 34 are in French.

MICHEL BALARD is Emeritus Professor at the University Paris 1 - Panthéon Sorbonne. CHRISTIAN BUCHET is Professor of Maritime History, Catholic University of Paris, Scientific Director of Océanides and a member of l'Académie de marine.

Published with Océanides Founded in March 2012, Océanides is a five-year, international research project which aims to provide scientific evidence of the key role seas and oceans have played in human evolution, culture and history.

Its primary objective is to provide the most global overview of maritime history to date, spanning five millennia and five continents. It aims to give policy makers the necessary tools with which to understand the close connection between humans and the sea, to appreciate the evidence of its crucial role in our future and to improve worldwide maritime policy.

4.海の歴史 - 古代世界 The Sea in History - The Ancient World

Edited by PHILIP DE SOUZA, Associate Professor of Classics at University College Dublin.

PASCAL ARNAUD, Professor of the History of the Roman World at the University of Lyon II, Senior Fellow at Institut Universitaire de France and co-director of the ERC-funded Grant Portus-Limen.

CHRISTIAN BUCHET Professor of Maritime
History, Catholic University of Paris, Scientific
Director of Océanides and a member of l'Académie
de marine.

2017年2月出版

48 black and white illustrations

738 pages Hardback

ISBN 9781783271573

Published by Boydell Press

定価 ¥31,050

How important has the sea been in the development of human history? Very important indeed is the conclusion of this ground-breaking four volume work. The books bring together the world's leading maritime historians, who address the question of what difference the sea has made in relation to around 250 situations ranging from the earliest times to the present. They consider, across the entire world, subjects related to human migration, trade, economic development, warfare, the building of political units including states and empires, the dissemination of ideas, culture and religion, and much more, showing how the sea was crucial to all these aspects of human development.

The Sea in History - The Ancient World ranges very widely in its coverage, beginning with pre-historical maritime activity and going on to cover not only the classical Greek and Roman Mediterranean and Near Eastern worlds but also Africa, Asia and the Americas. Fascinating subjects covered include the migration of the Taíno people in the pre-historic Caribbean, the Athenian maritime empire at its height, the port of Alexandria in classical times, and ships, sailors and kingdoms in ancient Southeast Asia.

25 of the contributions are in English; 18 are in French.

全4巻セット価格 ¥111,780 ISBN: 9781783271566

BOOKMAN

有限会社 ブックマン

〒113-0033

東京都文京区本郷3丁目4-8-501

Tel 03-5684-0561 Fax 03-5684-0562

E-Mail: sales@e-bookman.co.jp

ホームページ: <http://e-bookman.co.jp/>

ご注文・お問い合わせは下記へお申し
込み下さい。

(有)ブックマン

関西・中部・東海統括事務所

Tel 052-740-1829

Fax 052-782-4771

chubu@e-bookman.co.jp / kansai@e-bookman.co.jp

広島海外(株)

Tel 082-236-3522

Fax 082-236-3530

books@dear.ne.jp

福岡海外(株)

Tel 092-741-2685

Fax 092-741-8418

fkaigai@lime.ocn.ne.jp